She was extremely helpful during office hours and took time to make sure all of our questions were thoroughly answered and that we understood the class material very well. She was also very easy to talk to and explained the information well by explaining things to us and by drawing graphs on the board, which we barely did (and should have done more of) in class.

For the most part, I did not interact with Ebehireme past questions asked during office hours related to the course's structure. These were not academic matters and I only came to TA's, like Ebehireme due to the fact that Professor Buckles was extremely unresponsive, in fact, unreachable by email, and while he (Ebehireme) was responsive and helpful in this regard, I do not know about how he is as an instructor.

I don't know
If a student is confused about something I would recommend that you walk through even the basic concepts and show how you get to a certain explanation.

Slightly more communication with Professor Buckles would be helpful because she seemed to not always know exactly his plans or important information about the test and assignment.

Should have an email address available to answer questions. Not on syllabus or brightspace, so all questions were directed at the professor who rarely answered emails.

I met with her during office hours and she was very helpful. She attended every lecture and had to assist Buckles (another indication that Buckles can not lead a class).
Never met him
I didn't have a relationship with this TA either
